NORWAY MAY BE FORCED TO WAR, MINISTER FEARS

Sees Neutrality Compromised by Blockade of Her Waters

International

(By The Associated Press)
Oslo—Norway will fight if necessary to prevent one-sided interference with shipping in her waters, foreign minister says.
London—Air traffic with Germany believed next target of British-French blockade.
Rome—New decree law makes Italy ready for war-time discipline at a moment's notice.
Berlin—German news agency denies British report that five German warships were bombed in air-raid on Wilhelmshaven; another "decisive week end for Europe" foreseen over trade issue.
Washington—Army Day, 23rd anniversary of United States' entry into world war, finds defenses in process of reinforcement.
Buenos Aires—Argentina tightens guard on interned Germans after escape of three Admiral Graf Spee officers.

(By The Associated Press)
Norway's foreign minister warned his nation today she might be forced into the war should her neutrality be compromised by allied efforts to halt the flow of Swedish ore to Germany.
If free shipping in Norwegian waters is openly interfered with to the advantage of one of the belligerent powers, Halvdan Koht told the Norwegian parliament, then Norway will "at once be at war" in defense of her neutrality.

Scandinavian sources took this to mean not a threat of war by ill-prepared Norway but a warning that interference with German shipping in Norwegian waters would bring German steps which practically would drag Norway into the war.

The allies completed plans for intensifying their economic offensive.

Georges Monnet, French minister of blockade, and Ronald Cross, British minister of economic warfare, ended a two-day conference in which it was announced Britain and France "showed complete agreement and common desire."

Calls Details of Murder-for-Profit Crimes 'Shocking'

Detroit, April 6.—(AP)—William E. Dowling, chief assistant prosecuting attorney, said today that two reticent young men held for questioning about a "murder for profit" ring were afraid to talk because of gang reprisal threats.
"The public will be surprised," Dowling declared, "when it learns of the shocking details."

The men in custody are John Kurzawa, 21, and John R. Kasap, 22.

The latter had been questioned for a month about the strange deaths of Dorothea E. Bowman and Philip Loyst, who disappeared after dealing with used car buyers, and, according to police ballistics experts, were shot with the same gun.

Kurzawa, arrested in Pennsylvania and returned here this week was quoted today as saying of the Loyst case, "I'll do my rap, but I didn't kill him."

Dowling asserted Kurzawa had expressed a fear to talk. The fear, said Dowling, is well-founded. He added that the two men in custody were members of a ring much larger than was believed at first.

Bowman's body was found on a dump heap in nearby Macomb county. That of Loyst was found buried under a house in Detroit's north end.

State Highway Division Studies Bids for Route 141 Extension Paving

Springfield, Ill., April 6.—(AP)—Public Works Director Charles P. Casey announced today the state division of highways was studying bids for paving federal aid route 141 in Lee and Whiteside counties.

Apparent low bidders for three projects on the highway were:
F. F. Weir Construction Co., Mo. line, $188,907, for 6.2 miles 22-foot pavement on route 141 from U. S. 30, five miles west of Sterling, southeast to a point southwest of Rock Falls.

Pickus Engineering & Construction Company, Winnetka, $175,515, for 5.2 miles 22-foot pavement on route 141 from U. S. 30, five miles west of Sterling, southeast to a point southwest of Rock Falls.

Election Results to Be Broadcast Tuesday Evening

Election returns will be broadcast Tuesday evening to five centers throughout the city, through an arrangement completed today in which the Evening Telegraph and Chester Barriage, local radio-trickster, cooperate. Loud speakers will be located in four down town places of business as follows: Covert's cigar store, James billiards, John "Red" Vaile Hub and the United Cigar store.

Carl Petersen of the Rainbow Inn will have a loud speaker installed for the information of his patrons and at the Elks club house, where members and their friends will enjoy a stag evening, a loud speaker will convey election results.

The Telegraph has arranged for reception of complete returns from all of the precincts of Lee county and in addition will furnish the latest Associated Press dispatches. Special messengers will be dispatched to each of the city's 12 precincts and the returns will be received as fast as the judges and clerks complete their counts.

Returns will also be given at an "adult stag" to be sponsored by Dixon Post No. 12, American Legion, in the post's new quarters in the basement of the Hotel Dixon.

Old Age Assistance in County in March $10,977

Mrs. Frances I. Sheppard, county superintendent of public welfare, announced today that 594 old age assistance clients in Lee county received payments totaling $10,977 for the month of March. Twenty-eight cases were pending from the month of February and 12 new applications were received in March, making a total of 49 cases pending at the close of last month. 23 of this number pending in the central office at Springfield and 26 in the county office.

But one new award was granted in March and 602 cases were continued from February for a total of 603. Of this number 591 received awards and no payment was made to 12 clients. Five deaths were recorded during March with one case transferred to another county and three cases closed for other reasons, leaving a total of 594 cases continued to April.

New Jersey Father Freed of Charge of Murder After Eleven Worry-Laden Years

Pittsburgh, April 6.—(AP)—After years of worry, a New Jersey factory worker has realized a desire to free his children from the shame of having a fugitive father.

A criminal court jury of nine women and three men last night acquitted 46-year-old Sam Trunzo of murder in the killing of his former friend, Vianese Sgro, 50.

Claiming self-defense, Trunzo said he shot the fellow gardener in suburban Sewickley 11 years ago after pleading with him to "let me have peace." He fled to Manville, N. J., worked in a factory until last month when he surrendered "so my kids won't

GARNER BEATEN IN BATTLE OVER TRADE POLICIES

President and Hull in Victory Over Behind Scene Opposition

Washington, April 6.—(AP)—Senate approval of the reciprocal trade agreements program made that fundamental administration policy an issue of the presidential campaign today and stirred fresh speculation as to Secretary Hull's chances of being the Democratic standard-bearer.

The Senate, following the leadership of President Roosevelt and the secretary of state, voted 42 to 37 late yesterday to continue the program three years from its scheduled June 12 expiration date.

The chamber sent the House-approved legislation to Roosevelt after bowling over a dozen restrictive amendments which administration leaders contended would cripple the system of bargaining down tariffs reciprocally and impair its value as an instrument for world peace.

All of the 20 Republicans present voted against continuance of the president's authority to enter into the trade agreements. Their leaders made it clear that the country would hear much more

Chicago Negroes, on Way to Dixon, Painfully Injured in Car Accident

Mrs. Mary Bivens, 35, and Willis Spurgeon, 14, both colored and from Chicago, sustained severe scalp lacerations and other injuries yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in an automobile crash north of Franklin Grove on the Lincoln Highway. "Tot" Cannon, colored of Chicago, driver of the car escaped uninjured, aside from minor bruises and an eight-months old colored baby, which was thrown from Mrs. Bivens lap as she was seated in the rear of the car, to the front of the machine, was uninjured.

The Chicagoans were en route to the Dixon state hospital where Mrs. Bivens planned to visit her son, an inmate of the institution. Cannon, who was driving the car, apparently misjudged the sharpness of the curve at the Haenitsch corners, about three miles northeast of Franklin Grove and scene of numerous previous accidents. When the car entered the curve the driver lost control and the machine crashed into the embankment at the west side of the road and turned over.

State Officer Edward Mahan went to the scene of the accident and removed the injured persons to the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital. The car which was badly wrecked, was hauled to a local garage. The wreck scene is one of the danger spots on the Lincoln Highway between Franklin Grove and Rochelle which the state highway department seeks to eliminate by establishing a new route to do away with several of the short and dangerous curves as well as railroad crossings.

Barrett is Qualified For Office He Seeks

George F. Barrett, Republican candidate for Attorney General, one of Chicago's most prominent attorneys and Republican leaders, and one of Illinois' outstanding experts on election laws, is the first man to come forward with a sound, constructive, workable plan to end vote frauds in Cook county. For several years, downstate Illinois has been electing Republican officials, but Cook county vote thieves have nullified the downstate vote and kept honestly elected men out of office. Barrett's thorough knowledge of the Cook county situation, gained through years of study, and his work with the Special Committee Investigating Vote Frauds, makes him the best qualified man in Illinois to lead the fight to stop vote frauds and restore honest government.

Kankakee, Ill., April 6.—(AP)—State Attorney Samuel Shapiro said he would appear in Circuit court next Thursday to ask for the setting of a date for the second trial of State Welfare Director A. L. Bowen on a charge of gross omission of duty.

A typhoid epidemic last summer at the Manteno state hospital caused 60 deaths and resulted in the indictment of Bowen. A jury at the first trial failed to agree after deliberating 96 hours.

Shapiro said yesterday that he had notified defense counsel John Mayhew he had requested Judge James V. Bartley of Joliet to come here Thursday to set the second trial date.

Chloe Davis, 11, who told police amazing story of beating her mother and baby brother to death in Los Angeles home after mother killed two sisters, fondles doll during re-enactment of her story.

Girl's Story of Deaths Accepted by Investigators

Los Angeles, April 6.—(AP)—Eleven-year-old Chloe Davis, unruffled by a quadruple slaying before her eyes and by two days of questioning by police and physicians, has confounded criminologists who would have blamed her for the deaths.

Chloe, her flaxen hair in pig-tails, told such a startling tale when her mother, Mrs. Lolita Davis, her two sisters and her little brother were found dead in their home Thursday, that authorities could not at first accept it.

Chloe said her mother hammered the three children almost to death, attempted to kill Chloe and then "tried to set my hair on fire, and then made me hit her with the hammer until she stopped breathing."

Later, said Police Captain Edgar Edwards, Chloe elaborated upon the story, saying that after her mother "stopped talking" she, Chloe, also struck the boy to "make him stop groaning." The two girls died after being taken to a hospital.

Mother Bled to Death

Chloe also added, a day later, that her mother had forced her to bring a razor with which the woman could slash her wrists.

Just before Chloe "remembered about" the razor-slashing, officers learned for the first time—from the autopsy report—that Mrs. Davis died not of head wounds but of bleeding from cut arteries of the arms.

First Completely Blind Flight in History Is Made

Langley Field, Va., April 6.—(AP)—The first totally "blind" flight in the history of aviation was completed today by a United States Army Air Corps 22½-ton bomber as it landed at Langley field from Mitchell Field, N. Y.

Major Carl B. McDaniel, a native of Texas, took off, flew and landed entirely by instruments.

The giant four-motored plane touched its wheels to the ground at the big army base here at 11:06 A. M. C. S. T., two hours and two minutes after leaving Mitchell field.

The instrument landing was no bumpier than a landing under normal conditions when the pilot can see the ground in front of him.

Major McDaniel, in charge of a crew of six men, was shut off from all outside contact by a canvas screen around his side of the cockpit. Before him was an array of dials, indicating his air speed, compass course, altitude and the position of the airplane in relation to the horizon.

Once aloft he set his course for Langley field, receiving reports from his navigator and radioman on the plane's interphone.

Checked Position

As he neared Langley field he did an orientation problem to check his position by the radio beam, then slowly drifted toward the field.

The landing was effected by means of crew radio "markers," which indicated to Major McDaniel that his big plane was headed directly for the surface of the airport in a gentle glide. As he crossed the radio "markers," light flashed on his instrument panel. He knew his exact distance from the ground because of a sensitive altimeter. Keeping his glide constant and with his engine giving him plenty of air speed he only had to wait for his wheels to touch the ground.

Major-General Delos C. Emons, chief of the general headquarters air force, and a large crowd greeted the fliers on their arrival.

The Associated Press Aviation Editor was a passenger on the epoch-making flight.

$20,000 Damage Action Filed in Circuit Court

A $20,000 personal injury suit was filed today with Circuit Clerk E. S. Rosecrans in Circuit court by Attorneys Miller and Thomas of Rockford, representing Dorothy and Leslie Dobson, naming Lloyd and Julian Oellig as defendants. The complaint charges that Dorothy Dobson was a passenger in an automobile owned by Julian Oellig and operated by Lloyd Oellig on April 17, 1938, when about three miles south of Dixon on U. S. route 52, the Oellig car crashed into another machine and the plaintiff sustained serious injuries. Reckless and negligent operation of the automobile is charged as the result of the crash and the plaintiffs seek damages in the amount of $20,000 and the costs of the suit.

NOT UNION WAGE SCALE

The action of the board of supervisors Thursday with reference to the adoption of a uniform wage scale, pertained to the scale required by the state pertaining to all work carried on under gas tax projects. The wage scale adopted, it was stated, was not the rate requested by union agents who presented their request to the board at the opening session Thursday morning.

Cloudy Weather Indicated for 'Ring' Eclipse of the Sun Tomorrow Afternoon

New York, April 6.—(AP)—A fiery ring in the heavens, caused by an annular eclipse of the sun, will move across southern and southwestern states tomorrow, offering this country its first glimpse of the phenomenon in 75 years.

The full phase will be visible along a 150-mile belt from the Big Bend section of Texas to Jacksonville, Fla., provided the weather is clear. Forecasts indicate cloudiness over most of the region.

Elsewhere in the United States and North America, with the exception of Alaska, only a partial eclipse will be seen.

Because the moon's distance from the earth will be too great to effect a complete blackout or "total" eclipse of the sun, the "ring" eclipse will result. Ninety-three per cent of the sun's surface will be covered when the moon reaches the point of concentricity.

To the casual observer in the central phase zone the effect will be only a lessening of sunlight and possibly a paling from a yellow to a greenish cast.

Stelle Will Call a Special Session of General Assembly on Wednesday He Announces in Campaign Speech

Problem Child

St. Paul, Minn., April 6.—(AP)—Maybe 5-year-old Glenn Guertin is studying to be a tramp.

Less than three weeks ago the boy disappeared in a snow storm and was found in Minneapolis, 12 miles from home. Ten days ago he stowed away on a bus to White Bear Lake, 15 miles away.

Yesterday he repeated the stowaway trick on a bus and wound up in Duluth, 150 miles distant. Police sent him back. "What?" soliloquized Mrs. Guertin, "shall I do? I've tried persuasion and the wood shed. Maybe he needs hobbies."

Rock Island Highway Booster Had Meeting

A well attended meeting was held last evening at the Cook school in Nelson township for the purpose of discussing plans for an all-season road between Dixon and Nelson. Assistant Supervisor C. C. Buckaloo of Dixon township, for many years supervisor of Nelson township, presided at the meeting.

Arguments were presented for maintaining the present route of the Rock Island road over McRoberts crossing while others favored a changed route to extend east from the Hill school corners. County Superintendent of Highways Fred W. Leake was present and took part in the discussion. Attorneys James E. Bales and Elwin Wadsworth both spoke at the meeting. A committee composed of six members was named to submit proposals for an all-season road between Dixon and Nelson at the May meeting of the board of supervisors, as follows: Mrs. Ben Bremer, Mrs. Roy Smith, Mrs. George Velth, Roy Smith, Henry Duffy, and A. C. Higby.

Fire Fighters in Little Egypt May Need Assistance

McLeansboro, Ill., April 6.—(AP)—Assistant Conservation Director Anton J. Tomasek announced that if timber fires in southern Illinois burned unabated over the weekend he would be forced to call on Governor Horner for aid from other departments.

He said 35,000 acres of woodland has been "destroyed" in spring fires, most of it in the past week since the situation became critical.

However, rain was forecast for the central and south portions of the state tonight and tomorrow. A good downpour would check the fires and ease the situation.

Last night the greatest danger was in Hamilton county, where fires menacing the Aden oil fields were becoming stronger. Another hot spot was near Mill Shoals in White county. Three hundred fighters were massed there.

Other crews battled blazes in Johnson and Perry counties.

Paul Seastrom, district state forester, said fire conditions had grown worse daily and rain is needed badly to prevent spreading.

At Harrisburg officials of the U. S. forest service said only six small fires had been reported in the Shawnee national forest yesterday and last night. The average fire hazard yesterday was four, but rangers predicted it would reach five by noon today. Seven is the highest possible fire hazard.

DECORATING HINTS FOR YOUR HOME

Party Kitchen

Once upon a time parties were given in the parlor and at the dining table. Nowadays they begin in the living room, drift to the dining room and end up in the kitchen. Ingenious hostesses realize this and are making their kitchens as attractive as living rooms.

The most successful are those built around a definite idea... one that gives the room a distinctive personality. But even in the most festive of households, parties are not so frequent. The work to be done in the kitchen is always with us. So, keep in mind your own tastes, desires, and the working arrangement best suited to you.

Ideas for decorating kitchens are to be found on every side... in magazine pictures, in a length of fabric, in the display rooms of department, furniture and appliance stores.

Remember... when you're planning your kitchen... consider both workability and pleasant color use. Make your kitchen as workable and efficient as possible... yet one to be proud of from the beauty angle and a joy to show friends.

Termites Prosper With U. S. Fifty Million Loss

Termites destroy some $50,000,000 worth of property annually in the United States, according to FHA estimates. Although there are almost 2,000 different species of these insects, it is said approximately 95% of the damage is caused by one type called "subterranean termites", which need moisture to live.

Thus damp, wet basements invite these pests. If you believe there is any possibility that termites are in your home, immediate action is necessary to save it from serious and costly damage.

Termites eat the cellulose in wood, leaving the inside of the member hollowed out and shell-like.

Old Homes Improved With Modern Stairs

Stairs and stairways, the only channel of traffic between floor levels, occupy a position of importance in regard to both beauty and safety. Old homes may be greatly improved in appearance with modern stairways. Several treatments to beautify and remove a menace to safety may be carried out with: (A) replacing worn treads, (B) giving attention to creaky stairs (renailing or wedging from the under side will help), (C) adding additional support to rickety basement steps, (D) installing railing along basement steps, (E) changing closed to open stairways by removing one or both walls, (F) replacing old posts and railing with more modern types, (G) installing disappearing stairs to attic... eliminating unsafe ladder arrangements, (H) applying better hall and stair lighting to brighten and make safe dark, dim stairways, (I) painting treads and risers colors that will aid visibility, (J) carpeting to remove danger of slipping.

IMPROVEMENTS That Come in Packages

Built-In Corner Cupboard

Pictured here is one of the many types of corner cupboards you may purchase today. These come ready cut and set up. It is a simple task to install one or two in your living or dining room. Besides being handy for dishes, silverware and linens, corner cupboards add a decorative touch that is appealing. Some dining rooms boast two one in each corner opposite or diagonally across from each other. This use depends on the type and size of the room and the placement of windows. The height of your ceiling is no problem as corner cupboards are made in all sizes and types. Being made in large orders, the cost is surprisingly low. If you have a decorating problem try a corner cupboard to relieve the monotony and add taste and distinction to an otherwise bare spot. You'll be delighted with the transformation.

THE GARDENING GUIDE

INDOORS OUTDOORS

INDOORS Plant Disease Prevention

Few diseases will attack plants if they are properly fed. Provide suitable nourishment, pure air, correct temperature and other favorable conditions and your plants are sure to be healthy. Insects are usually the result of sickness, not the cause. If fought in time, insects may be easily destroyed. Here are some common insects and symptoms of their presence.

RED SPIDER—Yellowing of foliage and fine webs on the underside of leaves. Red Spiders are so tiny they are hardly seen unless numerous. Spray plants with water, making sure to drench the underside of the leaves. If this does not destroy them, dip the tops of the plants for a half-minute in lukewarm water.

MEALY BUGS—If you have white, mealy looking insects that barely move, on a Fern, Coleus or Sultana, for example, this is the mealy bug. Wash the bugs off with a hose, or use a small brush with a good, strong soapuds. Touching each mass with a brush dipped in alcohol is also effective.

APHIS—A form of green or brown lice. Spray with nicotine extract in soapy water, or dip the top of the plant into a warm solution of the above mentioned solution.

WHITE FLY—This insect quickly saps the foliage when plants become infested. Spray with nicotine extract. To be effective it must be done while the insects are young and before they have a chance to multiply. If badly attacked it is wise to throw the plant away.

Check Garden Tools

Look over your garden tools and see what shape they are in. Possibly you'll want to buy a new hoe, and bend the cutting edge straight with the handle of the old one to make a turf trimmer to use around walks. The garden spade may need some rust removed. Try rubbing the tines with old newspapers to cut off remaining dirt and loose rust. A piece of medium sandpaper will help regain the shine that prevents soil from clinging when in use. Oil well before you put away.

Now's the time to fix broken handles, straighten out the garden hose, tighten loose couplings, and repair leaks. Maybe you'll want a soil sifter. It's easy to build one out of a wooden box. Just tear out the bottom and add the mesh of screen you desire.

Be sure to lightly soak the bulbs you have stored to keep them from drying out. Care must be used in keeping them from getting too wet, as too much moisture will rob them of their winter rest.

NEW CONSTRUCTION PLAN IS EXPLAINED TO LOCAL WORKMEN

Farren-Wall construction, a new process which promises to revolutionize the building world, was explained to 35 local contractors and brick layers Tuesday evening at a joint meeting at the Hotel Dixon. Moving pictures of the process which features new air conditioning and fire-proofing methods, were shown by Allen Platt of the Strutt Clay Products Institute of Chicago.

Many buildings have already been constructed by the new method throughout Iowa, Minnesota, and Nebraska. Mr. Platt stated. In Lincoln, Nebr., alone, he said, more than 4,000 homes have been built the Farren-Wall way. Six new schools in northern Illinois, including one at Tampico, are examples of the process, which is approved by both the Federal Housing Administration and the Home Owners' Loan corporation.

Tuesday evening's meeting was sponsored by J. Paul Jones, local representative of the Sheffield Shales Products company of Sheffield, Ill., and the local bricklayers' association. E. G. Zach, manager of the company, was also present.

Parent-Son Banquet

About 80 guests attended the first annual Parent-Son banquet of the Franklin Grove Future Farmer chapter in Kersten gymnasium Monday evening. Parents of the chapter members and a number of business men interested in vocational agriculture work turned out for the dinner, served by the home economics department, under the direction of Miss Edna Fisher.

Dr. Frank Brown of Chicago Technical college spoke on "Blazing New Trails with the Modern Engineer Around the World," stressing work of the engineer in Japan, China, India and European countries. China, Dr. Brown believes, has the best future of all the countries he mentioned, in spite of the fact that it is the oldest nation on earth. "Science and engineering," Dr. Brown said in conclusion, "will progress in spite of criticism, and these fields will lead where the politician will follow."

Short talks on various phases of agricultural work were given by Robert Meyers, Melvin Brucker, Wesley Herwig, Ralph Pyse, Superintendent Fox, Ira Buck, Lowell Trottnow, and Ken Wasson. Raymond Pyse was toastmaster for the evening, and the sponsor was LaVerne Baker, agriculture instructor.

School Notes

Miss Fisher visited Flower Technical high school in Chicago last week, and was present for a meeting of the Home Economics division of the Illinois Vocational association. Miss Lyford attended the Commerce division of the same conference, which featured

He has a vast repertoire including not only many of the operatic arias but folk ballads of many nations. Negro spirituals, and some numbers from the lighter operas.

Assisting Mr. Nelidoff on his present tour is Angelo Tricomi one of the middle west's most charming and able coloratura sopranos. ## Record Illinois Primary Vote Is Expected Tuesday

Chicago, April 6.—(AP)—Illinois voters will turn out by the millions next Tuesday to nominate state and federal officers and make their choice of candidates for president of the United States.

Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes has estimated that 3,500,000 votes would be cast in the primary election to break the record of 2,674,713 cast in 1936. There were 2,036,001 persons eligible to vote in Cook county alone, 195,249 more than were registered before the primary four years ago.

Nationally, the interest was attracted to the vote to be cast in the two preferential primaries.

The names of President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner appear together on the Democratic ballot to furnish the nation another test of how deep the sentiment is for a third term.

Garnett's Confident
It was Roosevelt 3 to 1 in Wisconsin last Tuesday, but the Garner forces here are confident that Illinois will reduce that ratio.

Although the president did not sign a certificate of candidacy, his name was placed on the ballot by the Kelly-Nash organization of Chicago, which then joined the downstate forces of Governor Horner in an enthusiastic third-term movement.

Thomas E. Dewey, fresh from a victory of his own in Wisconsin, is unopposed on the Republican ballot.

The presidential primary in Illinois is merely advisory and does not bind the delegates. Dewey has expressed the conviction that if he piles up a big vote, however, he can go to the convention with Illinois' bloc of 58 delegates. Both factions of the Republican party turned out to honor him when he made a speaking appearance here late last month.

A large presidential vote seemed assured by bitter factional fights in both the major parties.

VOTERS OF LEE COUNTY YOU ARE MY JUDGE and JURY

Allow Me to Present My Plea...

I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for State's Attorney. I reside in Dixon with my wife, son and daughter where I am engaged in the private practice of law.

I am an independent Republican and a son and grandson of Lee County Republicans. I am unattached to any person, group or organization within the Republican Party and pledge that I will remain free from any entangling alliances prejudicial to the interests of the people of Lee County.

I am not a "door bell ringing, back slapping, hail fellow—well met, baby fighting politician," but you will find me congenial, friendly, courteous, conservative and sincere, with a thorough understanding of the problems of the people... and quite stubborn where the rights of the people are involved.

For the past 20 years I have been fighting my own way forward in the world, depending upon my own initiative and resourcefulness to earn my living, earn my college and legal education, raise my family, attain responsible positions in business, and develop my own law practice.

It is with considerable regret on my part that the demands of my private practice have prevented my calling upon each and every voter of Lee County, and I want you to know that while denied this pleasure at this time, I am looking forward to future opportunities to meet with you.

In offering you my candidacy for State's Attorney I am offering what I have always wanted to find in other candidates for public office... namely, a definite desire to work for the interests of all of the people... a definite intention to clean the sham and farce from political campaigns... a background of actual accomplishments beneficial to public interest... freedom from so-called "bossism"... freedom to represent the people in the performance of every duty cast upon the office... and an ability to do and perform the duties of the office for the sole benefit of the people.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Forewarned—Forearmed

If it is true that to be forewarned is to be forearmed, the United States is lucky. Warning signs are clearly up:

Whether the blitzkrieg blitzes this spring or whether it merely fizzles, the neutrals are in for it. For all of them, including the United States, things will be worse before they are better. We may as well get used to the idea.

American trade is going to get a worse kicking around than it has to date. The British are face to face with the fact that their blockade is a good deal less than water-tight. They are preparing measures to tighten it, though neutrals squirm.

The British claim that Russia, for instance, has bought in American Pacific ports vast quantities of copper, lead, tin, alloys, and machinery beyond her own need. This, Britain maintains, is going through Russia to Germany.

The United States is at peace with Russia, which is at peace with Germany, France and Britain. You might think that American trade with such a neutral is our own business. Ditto our trade with the Scandinavian countries, also suddenly far above normal. But it seems not.

War is desperation. If the British believe neutral countries are buying things from the United States, then passing them on to Germany, they will attempt to stop it. Contraband controls in the Pacific may come with the spring.

In short, when Britain thinks any neutral has imported from the United States as much of any material as it needs, Britain will try to stop further imports. International law? Remember the Altmark?

Meanwhile, of course, the British are importing from the United States just as little as they can. Of planes and such desperately-needed products, they will take all they can get. But of cotton, oil, and wheat, the minimum. They will buy instead from European and South American countries with which they hope to improve relations.

Australia has just cut imports from the United States by about 10 per cent.

In the midst of military war, Britain is moving heaven and earth to maintain export markets.

All this means heavy handicaps for American foreign trade. We shall need two things: first, patience and understanding in the face of what will certainly appear to be unjust discriminations; and second, every effort to stimulate the domestic market to make up for impending losses in foreign trade.

Murder Comes High

Wars cost us money even when we're not in them.

War expenditures of the United States, including defense and veterans' care, totaled $2,968,408,413—about 4.3 per cent of the national income—during the 1939 fiscal year. Because of increased appropriation requests for the army and navy, the bill will probably be larger this year. Of the nine billion dollars the United States will spend this year, more than one-third will go for war expenditures in one form or another.

At that, we're getting off lightly. England is spending about $26,000,000 a day on the war or 40 per cent of the national income. France's expenditures, exceeding one billion dollars every quarter, take in excess of 40 per cent of the national income.

It all adds up to a pretty extravagant price per capita for murdering men. Especially when New York gangsters can be hired to do the job for $10 or $20 a head.

Hors de Parole

The hors d'oeuvre is hors de combat.

Midwest hotel men are rushing to the aid of those myriad Americans who have sprained their tonsils trying to make something of that word HORS D'OEUVRE when the hostess goes around with the tray of gimcracks before the party really gets going.

The hotel men offered a prize for a new word to take the place of the French verbal concoction that has proved a pronunciatory Waterloo to so many Americans. The best they could get was "apiteaser."

So Americans, with their usual inventiveness in matters of language, will probably continue to say, "Hey, Mayme, pass over a few of them little gadgets on the tray, willya?"

Advance Warning

When war began in Europe and censors clamped down on the free flow of news to the United States, some newspapers in this country began carrying a daily note, warning readers that news from foreign countries was subject to censorship. People know, even when they read these stories, that they cannot always be accepted as fact but must be accepted as the representation of the government from which they originate.

With the election campaigns on hand, voters are given no such protection from the multitude of circulars and from the rumors, printed and unprinted, that make the rounds during campaigns. It might be well to inquire thoroughly into any campaign literature you receive before accepting its contents as gospel truth.

News Behind THE NEWS

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, April 5—Treasury tax extractors are chiseling up an assessment of nearly a quarter of a million dollars, $233,000 to be exact, against a prominent Indiana politico, friend of the Roosevelt cabinet member, Paul McNutt. McNutt is not involved but two other of his friends may be.

If the politico takes it, the settlement will be hushed. But the pursued gentleman has informed his friends here that he has hired an attorney to dispute the government claim openly in the Board of Tax Appeals. The matter may break within a week.

When and if it does the whole skein of cross and counter innuendos about the McNutt state organization and its taxes will be pulled out in public.

Metallurgy: The state department received an apparently innocent inquiry from a New York exporter asking if the Strategic Materials Control Board had any objection to selling pewter and babbit metal abroad. To be pleasant and cooperative the department replied it had none. Tin, rubber, etc. were on the blacklist, but not pewter and babbit metal.

Immediately thereafter dozens of letters started pouring in asking permission to ship these two obscure compounds. Interest of the department was aroused. Investigation showed the pewter to be shipped contained about 95 per cent tin and the babbit metal was 65 to 90 per cent tin. Russian buying agent Amtorg was taking it all.

The ban was immediately widened to include the two metals.

Soothing syrup: British-American disputes have practically disappeared from the headlines the past few weeks, due mainly to the quiet inside job of unravelling done here by the allied good will mission (Ashton-Gwatkin, Rist) with Assistant Secretary of State Adolf Berle. Individual friendly statements are to be issued within a week. Whether they will contain much concrete action is doubtful. At least a British control port will be established in Canada for trans-Atlantic shipping and the U. S. may promise to ration exports to neutrals surrounding Germany.

It was probably in these conferences that the suggestion of the British paying the war debt with transfer of West Indian islands was mentioned informally by the British, but any important action along this or other lines is apt to await later separate negotiation.

Tightening: Satisfactory deal has been made between the state department and the commodity exchanges to restrict exports of strategic defense materials without getting the exchanges involved in the anti-trust law. The Russian buying had already been cut to practically nothing. Tin buying (Amtorg) in February amounted to only 440 tons.

Horse-trading: War department is arranging to get what it can out of the allies in return for releasing its best planes. The original price list has been quietly withdrawn and the British and French will be required to pay for retooling the plants to accelerate the new production.

Blinkers: Ashton-Gwatkin delivered an entire address before employees of a New York brokerage house this week with his eyes closed. This feat has inspired rumors that he will be appointed to the British cabinet.

The cabinet changes already made inspired no interest here. They were nowhere near the reorganization forecast in this spot December 16, but only a mild makeshift effort to avoid more emphatic action. Wider changes will follow.

Mayor Refuses to Sign St. Louis 'Smokeless' Coal Ordinance Today

St. Louis, April 6—(AP)—Mayor Bernard P. Dickmann, who refused to sign a smoke elimination ordinance because of a "discriminatory" amendment, will ask the Board of Aldermen to reconsider and enact the original measure at a called meeting Monday.

The bill, equipped with teeth to rid the city of its winter "smog" within three years, was passed yesterday by the board after three amendments had been accepted.

Dickmann was favorable to the original bill, but objected to one amendment which relaxed enforcement against railroads. He and other city officials viewed the amended measure, if passed, as a law requiring everyone save railroads to use either smokeless fuels or stokers.

Specifically, the amendment provided railroads might use soft coal if locomotives operating in the city were equipped "with a practicable device by means of which the emission of dense smoke may be reduced."

The original bill permitted use of soft coal only if locomotives were equipped to burn it smokelessly. The change was suggested by President Philip J. Watson, Jr., of the Terminal Railroad Association, who threatened to sue legality of the bill if passed in original form.

dollars more than the budget estimates for the calendar year. This was the gasoline that got the fresh spending blaze going in congress. It was passed along to members of the appropriations committees and encouraged them to abandon their economy efforts.

The treasury is covering all its figures with an official hand in order not to encourage the spenders. It has announced only that first quarter revenue was higher than expected, not saying how much. Some of its figures suggest revenue will only be $300,000,000 to $350,000,000 more than the budget.

Federal Judge George A. Welsh made it clear he wanted to create a test case when he directed issuance of warrants yesterday for Philadelphia Police Lieutenant Albert Granitz and George F. Hurley and Chester Howe, agents of the congressional committee investigating un-American activities.

Carl Reeve, Communist candidate for U. S. Senate, and other Communist party leaders charged their constitutional rights were infringed by a raid on their headquarters here Tuesday, when a truckload of material was seized. Reeve contended he was denied the right to summon a lawyer.

Prison Guard Charges He Was Forced to Dig Up or Lose His Place

Springfield, Ill., April 6—(AP)—Henderson B. Gibson, former state prison guard at Joliet, contends he was "threatened with discharge" from his job if he refused to contribute to the Illinoisans, Democratic party financing agency.

The charge was contained in an amended intervening petition filed yesterday in the campaign fund accounting suit before Circuit Judge L. E. Stone.

D. Logan Giffin, counsel for the former guard, said Gibson would not press his petition for an injunction to impound the agency's funds inasmuch as Judge Stone has signed a formal order releasing all but $5,000 previously sequestered by a temporary injunction.

SERIAL STORY

K. O. CAVALIER

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Eddie apologizes to Kelly for letting his temper get away from him, but Val is not convinced. She uses the fight in her story. Captain Hansen hints that the future of the entire line depends on getting this shipment to port safely and on time. Duffy complains about the food, gets himself assigned to galley duty.

CHAPTER IX

THE Pacific wasn't so gentle the next day as they headed northward. There was a more pronounced roll under the "Northern Belle," and every once in awhile she dipped deep into a heavy sea that sent spray hissing over her forward deck.

Val picked her way along the after deck and tied a knot in a rope holding together some life preservers. It had slipped a little.

When she looked up Eddie Cavalier was watching her. He reached down, tugged at the rope experimentally and grunted with satisfaction.

"Since when are you checking up on me?" she flared.

"All in the interests of public welfare," he murmured. "Someone's life may depend on just such a little thing as a knot. Anyway, I was a Boy Scout once and I know all about knots."

"Y'know," she said slowly. "I've often wondered why you ever became a fighter?"

He gave her a long look. "Why?"

"Oh . . . never mind. Just a sudden thought." Then more brusquely: "By the way, what's on the program for today?"

"A little rope-skipping . . . little jogging . . . little shadow boxing. Pop says nothing heavy."

"Fine story that'll make for me," she commented.

He showed her a can of metal polish he had in his hand. "First I'm going to work out on some of these deck-fittings. You might get something out of that."

For almost an hour she watched him polish brass until the metal glistened in the sun.

"When you're all washed up in the ring I can get you a job polishing mail boxes and door handles in a New York apartment house."

"Thanks. I might need it at that."

"I don't think you will," she said evenly.

She felt a faint flush gathering in her face. She strove for an answer and found herself all tied up. If only she could say something. She wasn't angry, though. Of that she was certain.

He turned to his task again but when he looked up a minute later she was gone.

Eddie Cavalier watched the slender figure climb the companionway to the upper deck. His gaze followed her until she disappeared into the chart room.

Eddie was very thoughtful for a long minute. Funny, the way they had been at each other's throats since they'd known each other.

Eddie Cavalier hadn't had much time for women. He'd always had to work too hard. So he knew he oughtn't make comparisons. Still, he bet himself, she probably had a lot more than the usual run of females. She merely had to be slapped down once. That's all. Just once. And maybe, he figured, he'd be the one to do it yet.

"HELLO, Matey," Captain Hansen boomed as she entered. "What's stirring?"

"Nothing. That's the trouble," she said wrorely.

"Hold on," he said quickly. "Here comes Joe Barnes and he's coming awful fast."

The seaman came up the companionway two steps at a time. "This Kelso, sir. He says Wong Lee has poisoned him. He sent word he's awful sick."

"What's that?" Hansen bellowed. "Poisoned? Ridiculous!"

"Whatever it is, it's a story," Val howled and was out the door in a flash, Captain Hansen following her.

Together they dashed into Wong Lee's galley. "Wong—what's this about you poisoning Mister Kelso?" Hansen asked.

Wong smiled broadly and fingered his meat cleaver. "Me no poison Mister Kelso," he said blandly. "But me like to."

"No doubt," Val muttered, "and with just cause."

"Then why does he insist you poisoned him? Where is he, anyway?"

Wong smiled. "No poison," he repeated. "Too much rock today."

DUFFY KELSO lay in his bunk and groaned. "Go way," he moaned hollowly. "I'm gonna die. I know it. Get me a doctor."

Val sat down beside him. "I hate to laugh in a dying man's face, Duffy, so I'll just snicker. There isn't a doctor within 100 miles of us but don't worry. You'll pull through . . . and you haven't been poisoned."

"You can't tell me that," he moaned. "That Chinese don't like me now."

"Kelso," Hansen chuckled. "You're just plain seasick and don't know it."

Val nodded. "That's right, Duffy. Plain old mal de mer."

"Can you die from it?" he whispered.

Val shook her head in the negative.

G. A. A. OPERATES PARTY PLANS ON GIRLS' RULES; SIXTY COUPLES ATTEND

From 8 until 11 o'clock last night, young women of the Girls' Athletic Association and the dates of their choice exchanged social places, with everything operating under girls' rules. The occasion was the annual G. A. A. dance, an event for which the current "leap year" plan has become traditional, regardless of how many days are allotted to February by the calendar-makers.

In keeping with eligibility rules for the affair, the association members were privileged to ask any boy for a date—and got one unless he was already dated up. Then too, the girls paid for everything—(whether it was "cokes" at the soda fountain or a dinner before the dance)—and called for their dates at their homes. Many boutonnieres were in evidence, with gardenias and carnations running a close race in popularity.

Sixty or more couples turned out for the evening's gaiety, which took place in the high school gymnasium. Mary Louise Smith devised the party plan, choosing "G. A. A. Grill" as the theme for both setting and program. A variety of confections, ranging from lollipops, ice cream cones, and pop corn, were available at the temporary stands.

Berlyn Davis and his orchestra played the dance program, which opened with a "parfait" and concluded with the "lollipop." Guests of honor included the faculty members and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Miller, Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Worsley and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bowers.

Mrs. L. E. Sharpe was pinch-hitting for Miss Helen Hiland, G. A. A. director who was unable to supervise the party because of illness. Barbara Miller was in charge of invitations, and Alice Hintz headed the "clean-up" committee.

Before going on to the gymnasium, 16 upper classmen seen to together frequently were having dinner at the home of Alice Hintz. Alice's party included Evelyn Worsley and Arthur Handell, Barbara Miller and Leland Shoaf, Jr., Nan Warner and Don Youngmark, Mahlee Burns and George Dorland, Elizabeth Warner and Edward Lanphier, Mary Louise Smith and Keith Swartley, Patsy Alexander and Don Carey, and Sterling Schrock, Jr.

Another dinner hostess of last evening was Betty Rose Martin, a freshman, whose guest list included Joan Marloth, Betty Ross Simons, Floyd Egler, Bob Hess, and Floyd Thompson. A center bouquet of jonquils and tulips trimmed her party table.

Mrs. Gerald Jones Gives Book Review

Mrs. Gerald Jones gave an interesting picture of Gwen Britton's story, "This Side of Glory," to 40 women who met in the Dixon high school music room yesterday for the fifth book review sponsored this season by the literature and library extension department of the Dixon Woman's club. Mrs. George Christianson, the department chairman, introduced Mrs. Jones, who is the second member of the department to present a review this year.

Mrs. Jones described "This Side of Glory" as the third of a trilogy by Miss Britton, a former New Orleans newspaper woman. The two preceding books were "Deep Summer" and "The Handsome Road." These volumes, Mrs. Jones said, are considered one of the most satisfying trilogies of recent years, carrying on to the end with the same drive and easy vivid style.

"This Side of Glory" was presented as a moving drama of the new south's enterprise and the old south's traditions, bringing to the present that strange and wonderful civilization that before the Revolutionary war was founded along the rolling Mississippi in Louisiana.

The three books describe different periods in the history of old Louisiana families, the Larnes and the Upjohns, and the old plantation at Ardeith. This last story deals with Eleanor Upjohn, an extremely strong character, and Kester Larnes, son of a gentle aristocratic family, and their efforts and struggles to save the family plantation.

At one point in the book, Eleanor is told by her father: "No matter what you have or attain—it always stops this side of heaven."

Dorothy Chapter Has Anniversary

About 125 members and guests circled the dinner table at the 43rd anniversary celebration of Dorothy chapter, O. E. S., last evening in Brinton Memorial Masonic temple. Pink candles lighted the birthday cake served with the dessert. Past matrons and past patrons of the chapter were special guests.

Dinner was followed by the chapter session, and an anniversary program planned by Mrs. Ruth Emmert, the worthy matron. A playlet, "Then and Now," reviewing the chapter's history, was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Dick, Miss Jean Thompson, Mrs. Victor Eichler, Fred Huebner, and Lawrence Santelman. Miss Lola Quick and Mrs. Ila Edwards entertained with piano solos.

Conga brown is predicted as important for all accessories, since it harmonizes nicely with most tones of brown, also with beige, gold, greens, and grays, all of which will be popular fall costume colors.

More Than 500 Persons View Iowa Art Show

Some 500 persons assembled at the Davenport municipal art gallery Thursday evening for the opening of the first exhibition of "art and artists along the Mississippi," considered one of the most important shows ever to be sponsored by the gallery, and so original in conception that it has been publicized in national art magazines as well as in newspapers within a wide radius. Both John T. Nolf and Holger Jensen of Grand Detour are represented in the show.

Featuring the entertainment arranged for the affair was an original dramatic and musical sketch entitled "Life Along the Mississippi," which won the enthusiastic approval of the audience. The exhibit occupies galleries 1, 2, 3, 8 and 9, and will remain on view throughout the month of April.

A number of out of town visitors, distinguished in art circles, attended the opening program and reception. Joseph Vorst, head of the art department of Jefferson college, St. Louis, and Mrs. Vorst, were included among the guests. Mr. Vorst is represented in the show by Drifters on the Mississippi, a 2'00 scene which was the winner of the Kohnstamm prize at the 48th annual exhibit of the Chicago Art Institute.

LEE COUNTY VOTERS:

We are soon to conclude the 1940 Primary Campaign—as one of the candidates for office I have tried to conduct my own personal campaign in such a manner as I believed would reflect credit to my political party and to the office which I seek. I have not circulated, nor with my knowledge allowed to be circulated, any untruths which might enhance my own campaign or tend to injure my opponents.

I have not made promises which I know are impossible of fulfillment, and I have not aligned myself with any particular group or faction. If I am elected State's Attorney I therefore can and will give fair and impartial consideration to everyone's problems as they are brought before me.

If you believe from these actions that I am worthy of your support, and if you see fit to nominate me as the Republican party's candidate for State's Attorney, I wish to assure you that I will appreciate and respect your trust and that I will conduct myself in office as I have during my campaign.

Sincerely Yours,

Three Music Units Unite Efforts in School Operetta

"In Old Vienna," the spring production of Dixon high school Glee clubs, to be presented on Friday evening in the high school auditorium, offers balm to travel-minded folk who put down the travel page of newspaper and magazine with a far-away look. It seems one travels to one of the world's most romantic cities in this operetta—with carnival preparations, a magic pool, and a gypsy camp providing a colorful atmosphere.

A millionaire pickle manufacturer, his attractive daughter, his too-ambitious advertising expert, a wealthy English widow, her long-lost daughter, a pompous police chief and his faithful sleuths, an American artist, and the gypsies are among the interesting characters in the cast. About 10 students, including members of the boys' and girls' Glee clubs and the mixed chorus, will appear in the production. Miss Carolyn Bergstedt, music director, and Miss Gertrude Jackman, dramatics instructor, are directing rehearsals, and Marilee Burns is playing the piano accompaniment. Dress rehearsal has been set for 7 o'clock on Wednesday evening.

BOARD MEETING
Members of the Dixon Woman's club board have been invited to Mrs. E. V. Mellott's home for their monthly meeting at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening.

Miss Gage Becomes Bride of Charles Finch in Akron

An April wedding of much interest in Mt. Morris is that of Miss Betty Gage, daughter of Mrs. Carl Gage of Akron, Ohio, and Charles Wilson Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis George Finch of Mt. Morris, which was solemnized this morning at the home of the bride's mother in Akron. After May 1, the couple will be at home at 324 East Center street in Mt. Morris, where the bridegroom is associated with his father's funeral home and furniture store.

Following the ceremony, Mr. Finch and his bride left on a three weeks' motor trip through the south and Florida.

Today's wedding culminates a campus romance which began when the couple met at Illinois Wesleyan university in Bloomington, from where both were graduated in 1936. The bridegroom also attended DePauw university, in Greencastle, Ind., and is an Alpha Gamma Delta fraternity man. Mrs. Finch is a member of Sigma Chi sorority.

The bridegroom and his mother left Wednesday for Akron.

SOUTH DIXON CLUB
Members of the South Dixon Community club have planned an all-day meeting, covered dish luncheon and flower exchange for Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John Patterson.

Grand Army of the Republic Born in Decatur by 13 Men Just 74 Years Ago

Decatur, Ill., April 6—(AP)—Thirteen men, only a picket post of that vast army of more than 2,000,000, men who had worn the Union blue in the Civil War, made history here 74 years ago tonight.

Meeting in an upstairs room in an old frame building the little group completed the organization of old Post Number One, Grand Army of the Republic. The date was April 6, 1866; it lacked just three days of being a year since General U. S. Grant and General Robert E. Lee had signed the piece of paper at Appomattox Court House, Va., which ended the war.

None of the 13 survivors; of their comrades, there are fewer thousands alive now than there were millions alive then.

It was purely by chance that the first post of the G. A. R. was organized in Decatur.

Major Benjamin F. Stephenson, a surgeon of the 14th Illinois Infantry, was the father of the organization. He lived in Springfield. He needed the aid of some printers to prepare organization pamphlets. There were no Union veterans among the printers in the state capital.

There were two, though, in Decatur. Isaac Coltrin and Joseph Prior owned a small print shop and were willing to contribute their labor towards founding the order of which they were to become charter members. Other Decatur men offered aid and Major Stephenson decided the honor of having the first post should be Decatur's.

Original Minutes

The original minutes of that first meeting read:

"At an informal meeting held April 6, 1866, for the purpose of organizing an encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, the following persons were mustered by Major B. F. Stephenson, and constituted charter members:

"I. C. Pugh, George R. Steele, J. W. Routh, Joseph Prior, J. A. Nale, J. T. Bishop, G. H. Dunning, B. F. Sibley, M. F. Kanan, Chris Riebsame, I. N. Coltrin, Aquilla Toland.

"When upon motion, the encampment entered into an election of officers, with the following result:

"M. F. Kanan, commander; George R. Steele, adjutant; F. H.

Voice of the Press

Last Minute Political Punches
(Ogle County Republican)

There came to our desk the latter part of last week, a long-winded effusion, sent out from the headquarters of the Republican State Central Committee, 11 South LaSalle street, Chicago, in which the present state chairman, A. K. Stiles of Sycamore, elected and holding his post through and by the grace of the Republican party in Illinois issued information, which in our opinion is quite a long way from being what the average man will call fair.

Mr. Stiles, after having been at the helm of the Republican party in Illinois for a year, has at last seen a great light, which appears to have been dimmed for some months past.

The political potpourri which was issued from the headquarters has to do with the candidacy of one of the Republican candidates—please be sure to get this straight it concerns one of the Republican candidates for governor—not one of the Democratic candidates.

It states that the state chairman has made an investigation and finds that the charges thrown at Green in the last days of the campaign by opposition, that his candidacy is "closely interwoven" with the Kelly-Nash organization "are well founded and substantially correct." If these charges, as he, at the close of the campaign, states are correct, why weren't thousands of Republican voters in Illinois advised of them long ago, and not until the last minute?

It has always been the opinion of the rank and file of Republicans, that the man elected as chairman was so placed in the head position to act as sort of a referee and see to it that all candidates get an even break, and not to take sides in the primary campaign and bring dissension into the party ranks. This bias from the press departments of the state committee apparently aimed as a blow to Green's campaign, fortunately has appealed to the sense of fair play of the voters and instead of injuring Green's chances of nomination, it has practically assured that he will be nominated on April 9.

Also there has been circulated widely in this section the facsimile of a check which was paid to Dwight H. Green by the United Power & Light Corporation, together with considerable ballyhoo concerning this check. In the ballyhoo which is printed along with the check facsimile, it is stated that after Dwight H. Green was no longer connected with the office of United States District Attorney in Chicago, he was then employed by the Utilities Power & Light corporation, and that is about all that need be said in regard to the matter. As a free agent, not holding either an elective or an appointive post, but merely practicing law, he had a perfect right to represent any client who desired to employ him. The average farmer sells livestock and grain to Chicago buyers, and is paid for his products in checks. Anything wrong with that? The farmer has produce of his farm to sell, that is his stock in trade, the buyers want it, and are willing to pay him for it. Dwight H. Green as an attorney-at-law had as his stock in trade his legal knowledge and ability. The Utilities Corporation wanted him to be its attorney, he took the job, and was paid with a check. Just what is wrong about that, and why should a mountain be made out of a mole hill, unless it is to fool some of the voters if possible? This newspaper prints advertising for the local Utilities Company, and it gets paid by check. Quite a number of people in Oregon work for the local Utilities Company and they are paid by check. Where is there anything wrong in that?

In a political campaign there are always a few last minute wild dashes into the extremes to try and garner in votes before the people have time to check up on the plan used. This check facsimile being circulated at present represents a strictly open and above-board legitimate business transaction, and there are but few business men who would refuse to take pay for legitimate services rendered.

Army Day Finds War Department Nearer Purpose

Washington, April 6—(AP)—Army Day—The twenty-third anniversary of American entry into the World War—gave the nation an opportunity today to gauge the progress made in transforming the country's land forces into a streamlined, hard-hitting machine.

Reviewing the record of the past year, military officials expressed gratification at the success of the program for reinforcing national defenses.

Since 1939's Army Day, and especially since the start of the European war, the United States army has been undergoing an intensive modernization.

The day's martial parades in scores of cities attested that the revolutionary process was still going on. Regular army troops were somewhat conspicuous by their absence because five divisions were undergoing field training in the south.

Goal Is Near

These regulars, National Guardsmen, and the garrisons of Hawaii, the Panama canal and other outlying posts received from President Roosevelt "thanks and congratulations" for their energy and efficiency in carrying out the purposes of his proclamation of a limited national emergency last September.

An inventory based on the latest official reports by Secretary Woodring: General George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff, and others flouting prominently in the preparedness efforts would indicate that:

The war department's long-sought objective of a compact, fully-trained and equipped professional force, ready for quick action and expansion, in an emergency, is definitely in sight for the first time in peace.

Arms and equipment are in service on order or immediately projected for an "initial protective force" of about 400,000. Congress has provided some funds toward reserve equipment for a "protective mobilization plan" involving a million men.

AT ILLINOIS POSTS

Fort Sheridan, Ill., April 6—(AP)—Howitzers and anti-aircraft guns mingled their deep-toned thunder with the rattle of machine guns today as the regular army demonstrated the latest in martial equipment for Army Day guests.

The 23rd anniversary of the day the nation entered the first World War was given over to the public by the soldiers.

Fort Sheridan, named after Grant's doughty little cavalry leader, General Phil Sheridan, is the only regular army post in the state where artillery, cavalry, infantry and anti-aircraft units are stationed.

There are two air fields in Illinois, Chanute field at Rantoul and Scott field at Belleville, and each scheduled open house for visitors.

Visitors at Fort Sheridan were shown formations by all units except the infantry. The battalion of the Second Infantry, usually stationed here, now is temporarily in Fort McClellan, Ala., taking part in large-scale winter maneuvers.

The Rock Island arsenal was an exception to the army's open house rule. The arsenal, bustling now with a program calling for modernization of much mobile equipment, has curtailed visiting activities.

The Illinois National Guard had no program planned for the day. The 124th Field Artillery with an armory in Washington Park in Chicago planned an open house for visitors. The annual Army Day dinner tonight will be attended by 105 officers in the vicinity of Chicago.

National Socialists Convention Is Opened

Washington, April 6—(AP)—Public ownership and operation of essential industries to replace a capitalistic profit system which "has developed a serious case of hardening of the arteries" was proposed by Maynard C. Krueger today in a keynote speech opening the socialist party's national convention.

Krueger, economic professor at the University of Chicago, spoke to about 200 delegates in the National Press Club auditorium.

"We will get the kind of expansion which private enterprise fails to give us", he declared, "only by resort to public enterprise, which is the only possible alternative to the private profit system. A public enterprise can expand as far as the usefulness of its product justifies expansion, because it represents production for use, not production for profit".

Vandenbergers In Nebraska Step Up Primary Campaign

Omaha, Neb., April 6—(AP)—A last-minute drive for votes by supporters of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) in the Nebraska presidential preference primary next Tuesday quickened the tempo today in a farm-state test of the vote-drawing strength of the Michigan man and Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney.

Lee Rankin of Lincoln, Nebraska manager of the Dewey forces, declared he had no immediate plans to "step up" his campaign. He denied quickly rumors that a crew of New York workers will be brought into the state to aid the Dewey cause.

Senator Gerald P. Nye (R-ND) will speak at Fremont, Neb., tonight in behalf of Vandenberg.

Senators Capper of Kansas and McNary of Oregon endorsed Vandenberg as a friend of agriculture in messages to Charles S. Reed of Omaha, chairman of the Vandenberg committee of Nebraska.

Dewey's success in winning all 24 of Wisconsin's delegates to the national Republican convention stirred the Vandenberg forces into action. Agricultural Nebraska will send 14 delegates, bound only morally by the outcome of Tuesday's balloting.

Mrs. Simms in Omaha

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, co-manager of the Dewey campaign, will arrive in Omaha today for a 25-minute stop. She is en route to Oregon, Washington and other states.

Meanwhile Frank Gannett, Rochester, N. Y., publisher whose name is not on the ballot with Dewey and Vandenberg, made a bid for form support in a speech last night at Lincoln.

Declaring the farm problem is "essentially a price problem", he proposed setting up a monetary authority under congressional mandate to provide a dollar of stable purchasing power.

"A truly honest dollar will give to the farmer and other producers of basic commodities a just income; it will be fair to both creditors and debtors; it will be a brake on both booms and depressions; it will give such stability that we can invest and build for the future", he asserted.

Illinois Grand Lodge of Masons Celebrates Its Centennial Today

Jacksonville, Ill., April 6—(AP)—The centennial of Masonry in Illinois was celebrated here today with a program commemorating the founding of the state's Masonic Grand Lodge 100 years ago.

Present Grand Lodge officers and delegations from many of the lodges in the state participated in the observance. More than 700 Masons were to attend a dinner this evening at MacMurray college.

The present Grand Lodge was founded April 6, 1840, when delegations from lodges in Jacksonville, Quincy, Galena, Columbus, Springfield and Equality convened here. The lodges in those communities received the first charters. Harmony lodge No. 3 of Jacksonville, one of the first chartered, was a host at today's celebration along with Jacksonville lodge No. 570.

At the time of the Grand Lodge's organization its six subordinate lodges had a combined membership of 127. Now chartered in Illinois are 994 lodges with a membership of 197,623.

Masonic records showed the order gained a foothold in the state well before the formation of the Grand Lodge. The first lodge, chartered by the Pennsylvania Grand Lodge, was organized at Kaskaskia, Ill., in 1805. 13 years before Illinois reached the status of statehood. Prior to 1820 other lodges were formed in Shawneetown, Edwardsville and Belleville.

ADmits BEING FUGITIVE

Salem, Ill., (AP)—A man known as Howard Martin, field superintendent for an oil well drilling company, has admitted that he was Earl Jarrett, 35, who escaped from the Oklahoma penitentiary in 1924 while serving a prison term for murder of a policeman. He is held by Sheriff H. E. Vogt, but will fight extradition with the aid of his employer.

DEMAND CREDENTIALS

East St. Louis, Ill., Apr. 6—(AP)—Politicians are posing as census takers here to get into private homes for primary election campaigning.

After reports of considerable false representation, District Census Manager Henry Waddell advised St. Clair county housewives to see official credentials before admitting his enumerators.

According to estimates, America's trailer population totaled nearly 1,000,000 at the end of 1938.

FANFARE

By DON DANIELSON.

ENTERED IN NEXT YEAR'S A. B. C.

The Dixon Recreation holds the honor of being the third team to enter for the 1941 American Bowling Congress tournament to be held at St. Paul, Minn. It is planned to make a team of the five highest local leagues according to their averages at a certain date next year. These five, with Frank Daschbach, will invade the alleys of the king pin spillers.

MEETING IS CANCELLED

Due to unforeseen circumstances, the meeting of the physical education teachers and coaches of the Rock River division which was to have been held this weekend at the White Pines state park, has been cancelled.

TENNIS TALK

Tennis chatter has already started to become a part of the sports conversation these days. Several of the boys have been asking about the plans for the season and it is expected that a meeting will be held soon to discuss the possibilities of conducting the 1940 campaign. New courts at the site once occupied by the E. C. Smith school will increase interest this year, allowing more persons to participate in their favorite sport.

BOWLING MATCHES

Two match games are scheduled for the Dixon Recreation bowling alleys tomorrow afternoon where the Amboy quintet meets the Silver Floss team of LaSalle at 2 o'clock and the Hillson's Recreation of Davenport, Ia., meets the Dixon Recreation at 2:30 o'clock.

NEW ERA

It is reported from Sterling that Coach Ted Scheid has cut 14 candidates from his track squad. The slash was made to eliminate boys who were irregular in their attendance. Sterling scribes report that a new era has been inaugurated at Sterling high school and that boys who do not wish to do their best and be regular in attendance at practice will be cut off the squads or teams of any sport.

ALL DRESSED UP

The Dixon trackmen will be examples this season of what the well-dressed young cindermen are wearing after new jerseys were given out to the candidates yesterday afternoon. The 60 new shirts have purple lettering to read: "Dixon Dukes."

IT WAS TREES IDEA

The abolition of lightweight competition in the North Central conference and the substitution of freshman-sophomore teams which was recently adopted by a 5 to 1 vote of the principals, is the result of a suggestion made by Coach Jim Treese of DeKalb. There were a dozen or more suggestions offered in an effort to eliminate what was considered by many as an unbalanced situation but the one made by Treese met the approval of the majority. The plan will be given a trial during the coming year.

WANT LIGHTED FIELD

It was reported today that nearly 2,000 signatures have been collected on petitions urging night football in Dixon. Those sponsoring the movement hope to convince the powers-that-be that a lighted field should be in readiness for the 1940 season.

ONLY TWO LETTERMEN

From Freeport comes the news that the Pretzels have only two lettermen on a track squad of 67 candidates which reported to Coach Howard A. Weber. It is probable that only Roger Richards of this pair will be ready for action when the season opens. Ellsworth Morris, distance runner, has been dropped from the squad. A dual meet between the Dixon Dukes and Freeport is among the tentative dates scheduled.

STRANDED IN INDIANA

Louie Bevilacqua, en route to DeLand, Fla., to join the baseball team of that city, is reported to have been the victim of pickpockets who robbed the young Dixon athlete of his wallet and ticket and left him stranded in Indianapolis. Telephone conversations with his family here and friends in the Indiana capital provided the rescue and he was able to continue on his trip south.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

By The Associated Press

PRAISES RED SOX
Rocky Mount, N. C.—Paul Deringer, the Cincinnati Reds' pitcher who has had unpleasant experiences with both teams, says the Boston Red Sox have more power than the World Champion New York Yankees.

"Every man in the Sox lineup, except the battermen, can knock the ball out of the park," he declared. "In my book Ted Williams is just about the toughest hitter in the game."

SUCCESSOR TO GOMEZ
Memphis, Tenn.—Although Lefty Gomez apparently has reached the age where he likes to save his salary wing for the championship season, the New York Yankees seem to have come up with an able successor in Marius Russo. Gomez didn't show much speed nor use his curve often in a five-inning, four-hit stint against Little Rock yesterday. He's worked only 12 exhibition innings this spring. Russo, following him, gave the travelers only three blows.

LIEBER'S DEBUT
San Antonio, Tex.—Hank Lieber, last of the Chicago Cubs to sign this year, was due to make his spring exhibition debut today against the St. Louis Browns. Lieber has been assigned to right field, replacing Bill Nicholson, who has hit seven homers but is batting only .197.

FINDS HITTING RANGE
Macon, Ga.—Outfielder Ben Chapman of the Cleveland Indians has found the hitting range and in the past week he made seven hits in 14 times up against the New York Giants. Meanwhile the Giants have a private runs-batted-in duel with Nick Witke leading Johnny McCarthy 14-12. Between them they drove in eight yesterday.

JOB STILL OPEN
New Orleans When spring training opened, the St. Louis Cardinals had five players trying for shortstop. The job still is open, although Martin Marion does seem to have an edge. The reappearance of Jimmy Brown and the constant improvement of Don Gutridge may change the situation again.

DANGEROUS MAN
Valdosta, Ga.—Little Heinie Mueller still is a dangerous man at the plate for the Phillies—when he gets there. Heinie was a success last year as a pinch hitter, and in the same role yesterday he bashed a homer with the bases full against Jacksonville of the Sally league.

HAS TOUGH ASSIGNMENT
Atlanta—Sid Hudson, Washington's tall, lean pitcher from Rossville, Ga., has a tough assignment ahead—proving a man can jump from a Class D league to the majors in one season. Rat-

Barbers' Team Has Bowling Title Cinched

FRIDAY NIGHT'S
KEGLERS BATTLE
FOR 2nd POSITIONCrystal Barbers Have the Title Cinched in Major
League's Season

With only one more week left on the schedule of the Major League on the bowling alleys of the Dixon Recreation, the Crystal Barbers have the title cinched and the fight revolves around second and third place winners.

After the games last night the barbers held a lead of ten games over the second-place Coca Cola team. Tied for third place are the Hanson's Stars and the Blatz quintet with 41 wins and 40 losses. Close on their heels is the Chauffeurs team with 40 wins and 41 defeats.

Last night the Coca Cola squad won two games from Plum Hollow with McCordie's 539 paces the winners and Randall leading the golfers with 537. He counted a maple-burning score of 259 in his first game.

Chauffeurs Win Two
The Chauffeurs won two games from Hanson's Stars. Allen's 516 paced the drivers and Dwyre rolled 235 in his third game to bring his total to 598 to lead the losers.

Ace Kegler to Bowl Tonight in
ABC Tourney

Detroit, April 6.—(AP)—American Bowling Congress expects to know tonight whether they have a new star in the ten pin firmament.

Despite the star-studded cast of former champions slated to bowl tonight, interest centered on the appearance of Richard Davidson, 19-year-old "find" from Middletown, O. He has a 632 start towards a sizeable all-events total. Included is a 286 game in which he rolled 10 successive strikes after sparing the first frame. His 692 is the best series registered in the five-man event thus far.

Rolling tonight will be Birk Brothers of Chicago, all-time ABC record holders; Heil Products of Milwaukee, former world's match champions; Milwaukee Pabsta; Wanzner Woodlawn of Chicago, and Murphy Flowers of Cincinnati.

Elmo (Lucky) Anderson, Grand Rapids, Mich., salesman registered the only change in the leaders yesterday by taking fourth place in the all-events with 1898. He rolled 269 in his final singles game.

DEMARET AND MANGRUM TIE
IN GOLF MEET

BY BILL BONI

Augusta, Ga., April 6.—(AP)—The Guy comes into the locker room after shooting a 75 and acts just as chipper and cheerful as if he had just broken all course records.

When he's through playing a round of golf, he shuns hotel lobbies, where fellow-pros gather to replay the shots they missed. He has a neat philosophy which reasons that the moment you've made a shot, it's time to forget it.

This is Jimmy Demaret. He is tied with Lloyd Mangrum for the lead in the Augusta Masters Golf tournament.

For 36 holes over one of the most testing courses in the country, Demaret has shot 139, five strokes under par. There are a lot of other pros who, in a similar position, would be tightening up and playing the next 36 holes in advance, or the past 36 in retrospect.

Jimmy may be tightening up, but he isn't showing it. This 29-year-old "kid" out of Houston, Texas, has the ideal outlook for the business he's in.

"As long as I've been playing golf," he tells you, "I've tried to train myself to the idea of playing one hole at a time, of playing one shot at a time."

Three native Texans are leading the select Augusta field. Demaret shot a part 72 yesterday to go with his previous 67. Mangrum slipped from his sensational opening 64 to a 75. Byron Nelson, open champion, fired a 72 to gain third place two strokes back of the leaders with a 141.

U. S. Amateur Champion Marvin Ward turned in a sparkling 68 to the P. G. A. titleholder Henry Picard for fourth position at 142. Picard shot his second straight 71. Others of the six second-day par breakers were Jug McSpaden, whose 71 put him at 144; Al Watrus, whose 70 gave him a 145; amateur Wilford Wohle and Gene Sarazen, also bracketed at 145 with their 71's.

IT'S HARD FOR RANGERS TO TAGE PLAYOFFS SERIOUSLY

Toronto, April 6.—(AP)—The New York Rangers realize they had tough sledding in their opening hockey playoff series with Boston because of over-confidence. Several clubs have done that trick but the nearest thing to six straight was the Montreal Maroons' seven-game unbeaten streak in 1935, when the preliminary rounds were decided on a total-goal basis. The Maroons had two ties.

Last Wednesday's 6-2 triumph in New York was the Rangers' fifth straight in the playoffs. Several clubs have done that trick but the nearest thing to six straight was the Montreal Maroons' seven-game unbeaten streak in 1935, when the preliminary rounds were decided on a total-goal basis. The Maroons had two ties.

To Fight Here

JAMES STIFF

Headlining the bouts here for Catholic Charities on April 16 at the high school auditorium will be the heavyweight match between James Stiff (above) and Bill Covan, Chicago Golden Gloves finalist from Crystal Lake.

The card, to be sponsored by the Dixon and Sterling Councils of the Knights of Columbus, will feature eight fights in all and offer other outstanding C. Y. O. boxers and Rockford Golden Glovers.

Stiff, of German-Irish descent, was born in Bellwood, Ill., a suburb of Chicago. Only 18 years old, he has already a year and a half of boxing experience and has won 18 of his 25 bouts. Eleven were by knockouts. He stands six feet and weighs in at 190 pounds.

Uncle Was Great Fighter

Young James, comes by his boxing naturally with his uncle, Billy Stiff, one of the great fighters a number of years ago. Last year James reached the finals of the C. Y. O. tournament held in November. He lost only to Cornelius Young, present C. Y. O. and Golden Gloves champion. Although he lost to Young, who is more experienced, James made a very impressive showing. His ambition is to play college football and become the heavyweight champion of the world.

At present he is working as a brakeman after attending St. Mel high school where he played football and baseball.

Glamor Boy of Swimming Gets
25 College Bids

By SID FEDERA

New York, April 6.—(AP)—If you have any vague notion that colleges and their coaches overlook any bets when it comes to athletic material, consider the case of young Otto Jaretz of Chicago.

Currently the glamor boy of national swimming circles and the talk of the National A. A. U. swimming championships, which went into their second and final day in the New York A. C. pool today, the 18-year-old blond husk has scholarship offers from 25 colleges, "and there may be more since I left home," he admitted.

Jaretz, a Lane Tech high school student, built like a football tackle, hasn't hit the championship circle in the current title competition, which saw the University of Michigan and Ohio State deadlock for first place with 11 points each.

However, he won the national 100-meter outdoor title from the great Peter Frick last year, and with Frick now sidelined by illness, he figures it should be no great trick for him to take the indoor honors in the sprint today.

Otto not only anchored the Chicago Towers club 400-yard relay team, which placed fourth to Michigan's crack quartet last night, but he wound up second to the veteran Tom Haynie of the Detroit A. C. in the 220-yard free style.

After Jaretz graduates in June he'll make up his mind about which collegiate offer to take. Gus Sharemet turned in the big thrill last night by overhauling Yale's Ed Pope with inches to go to give Michigan the relay victory. At Patnik, who does a bit of diving for Ohio State—he hasn't missed a national championship in three years—took the low board crown.

Spring Athletes
In Tennis, Golf
Aim For Meet

Aiming at the not-so-distant date of June 1 when the North Central conference tennis and golf meets will be held at Princeton, Coach Fridolf Lundholm is drilling his spring sports squads these days with an eye toward the championships.

This week saw the first practice of the golfers who climbed the hills and dales at Plum Hollow chasing the little golf ball around in search of a par. Among the principals on the golf squad this season are Bill Witzleb, Bill McNichols, Darrell Coakley, Jack Marshall, Marshall Bunnell, Charles Clinker, Farnwell Stauffer and Roger Chapman.

No definite dates have been set for matches in either golf or tennis, but it is expected that the locals will meet Princeton and Sterling on dates to be determined sometime next week.

Among the tennis players is Alan Wieman who is seeking to defend his conference singles championship. With him, to comprise the Dixon net candidates are Ward Smith, Bill Moser, Bob McNamara, Ned Sack, Warren Lapham, Harold Schick and John Lapham.

The tennis players have been practicing for a couple of weeks on the outdoor courts at the high school after a preliminary week of workouts in the gymnasium.

Included also in the Dixon assignments is the expected entry in the district meet which will probably be held this season at Rockford.

BEGIN FINALS
IN COLLEGIATE
BOXING EVENT

By RUSS NEWLAND

Sacramento, Calif., April 6.—(AP)—College boys absorbing a glugistic education here for the glory of old alma mater turn in to the finals of the National Collegiate Athletic association boxing championships with the eastern half of the country enjoying a substantial numerical advantage over the west.

Eleven mitt-slingers who roam campuses on the sun rise of the Mississippi punched their way in to the last bracket. The remaining five were from the far west.

In the running for unofficial team honors were the Universities of Idaho, with three; and Wisconsin, Virginia and Louisiana State, each with two entries. Wisconsin won unofficial squad honors a year ago.

The two 1939 title-holders came through semi-final matches with colors still flying; one standard-bearer of a year ago was shoved out of the parade.

Scores Easy Win

Sewale Whitney of Loyola, New Orleans, defending 127-pound champion, scored an easy win over H. H. Graham of the University of Florida. In the 155-pound division, Woodrow Swancutt of Wisconsin out-punched Bill Bolich of San Jose to become a favorite to retain his crown.

The eliminated 1939 holdover was Omar Crocker of Wisconsin, who lost out in the 145-pound class. He was defeated by Snyder Parham of Louisiana State, by a hair-line margin.

Pairings for tonight's finals include: 145-pounds—Snyder Parham, Louisiana State, vs. Clarence Esterl, Superior, Wis. 155-pounds—Truman Southall, Virginia, vs. Woodrow Swancutt, Wisconsin.

Heavyweights Herb Kendrick, Louisiana State, vs. Nick Lee, Wisconsin.

LaCrosse, Wis.—Lou Bell, 124, St. Paul, outpointed Eu Eulien, 134½, Chicago (6).
Pittsburgh—Carmen Notch, 146, Pittsburgh, outpointed Bobby Masters, 145, Philadelphia (10).
West Palm Beach, Fla.—Al Gilbert, 165, Honolulu, outpointed Jimmy Shepard, 161, Springfield, Ill. (10).

Philadelphia—Johnny Marcel-line, 123, Philadelphia, outpointed Pablo Dana, 124, Philippine Islands, (8).

Philadelphia leads the United States in the number of building and loan companies, manufacture of street cars, and fox hunting.

FIRST BASEBALL
PRACTICES WILL BE HELD SUNDAYKnacks and Junior Legion Teams to Hold Drills
At Reynolds Field

Reynolds field, stirred for its winter slumber, will awake to the sound of baseballs slapping leather mitts and the crack of wood on the pellet tomorrow afternoon when the Dixon Knacks and the American Legion Juniors hold their initial practice sessions of the year.

Even before schedules are completed the senior and junior teams will be hunkering up with managers keeping sharp lookouts for new season material.

In the camp of the Knacks Manager B. F. Cummings and Coach Hi Emmert look to 1940 with the hope of defending the championship of the Illinois State league won last year. This season will be the Knacks' third year of participation in the loop with West Brooklyn the champion of the Knacks' first season.

As belated returns trickled in, the Roosevelt delegates apparently were split. The "officially-endorsed" Roosevelt-Farley slate led in races for 14 delegates, and the liberal "Democratic Party Organization", also pledged to a third term for the president, held a lead for the other eight.

The president remained a 3 to 1 choice over Garner in the Democratic presidential preference primary. The vote in 2,613 of 3,011 precincts gave Roosevelt 275,187; Garner 89,260. There was no personal preference vote in the Republican party.
